Johan Harms Genealogy

Section One. Introduction.

The patriarch of the Kleine Gemeinde Harms family was Johan (Hans) Harms born in 1771 in West Prussia. According to the B.H.Unruh, the family originated from the village of Ellerwald in West Prussia.1 A Martin Harms family is shown as resident in that village in the Konsignation of 1776 but it is not known whether he was the father of Johan Harms or even otherwise related.2

Johan Harms (b. 1771) married Maria Fast and in 1795 the young couple emigrated to Russia where they settled in the village of Osterwick in Chortitza.3 Later they decided to move to the Molotschna Colony and on June 20, 1804, they settled in the village of Blumstein, Wirtschaft No. 12. It seems possible that two of his brothers moved to Russia as B.H.Unruh lists a Peter Harms and Isaac Harms who settled in the Molotschna at the same time. All three are reported to be from Ellerwald, West Prussia.

The Johan Harms family is listed as follows in the Revisions Liste of 1808: "Johan Harms 37, from Ellerwald, Amt Elbing, Linen weaver, wife Anna 24; Children, Katharina 12, Johan 10, Peter 2 and Anna 4 months. Property, 1 wagon, 1 plow, 1 harrow, 6 horses, 12 cattle, 200 tschchwert unthreshed grain and 30 loads of hay.

Johan Harms (b 1771) was married for the first time to Maria Fast (b. 1769) who died soon after the move to the Molotschna in 1803. Shortly thereafter Johan Harms married for the second time to Anna Neudorf.4 The Harms family apparently belonged to the Kleine Gemeinde as the families of six of their children belonged to this movement. The fellowship of Kleine Gemeinde families in Blumstein included Johan Harders, Martin Warkentins, Daniel Wiens', Aron Schellenbergs and possibly others.

Section Two: Katharina Harms.

According to Johan K. Esau the oldest daughter Katharina Harms married Isaac Braun.⁵ Others sources indicate that her husband name was Jakob Braun.⁶ The family apparently lived in Blumstein, Molotschna, as some of the children were born there. Isaac Braun Senior, died in Russia sometime prior to the 1874 emigration.

His widow Katharina Braun emigrated to Canada together with several of her children, traveling on the S.S. Austrian arriving in Quebec City, Canada, on August 31, 1874.⁷ At some time Katharina Braun became blind as a result of "working very hard, getting warm, and drinking cold water. For a number of years she lived alone in a little house looking after her own needs. When cancer showed up in one of her eyes causing much pain, she moved to her daughters' home, Mrs Peter Esau."⁸ Much of the information regarding the children of Katharina Braun (b. 1798) has been obtained from the article "The Kleine Gemeinde in the United States of America" by Henry Fast.⁹

3 Peter Braun was born in Blumstein, Molotschna, in 1840. He and his wife Katharine lived in the Kleine Gemeinde settlement of Friedensfeld, near Mikopol, prior to 1874 when they emigrated to Manitoba, Canada, together with his widowed mother.¹⁰ Sometime after 1880 the Peter Braun family moved to Jansen, Nebraska, where they made their home. Mrs Braun died in 1901 while they were on a trip to visit his brother Isaac Braun in Edenburg, near Gretna, Manitoba. The Peter Braun family lived in Glen Elder, Kansas, and may have been members of the Reformed Mennonites. The names of their children are listed as recorded in the Quebec Ship Records.

3 Jakob Braun lived in the village of Neuendorf. Henry Fast has speculated that he "may be the same Jakob Braun who immigrated to Nebraska, worked as a blacksmith in Fairbury, and then returned to live in Russia."¹¹

3 Isaac Braun was born in Blumstein, Molotschna, in 1844. On November 11, 1865, he married Maria Doerksen daughter of Jakob and Maria Doerksen of Blumengart, Chortitz Colony, South Russia. It is possible that Isaac Braun (1844-1901) had moved to one of the Kleine Gemeinde settlements nearby where the couple may have met. They emigrated to Manitoba, Canada, together with his sister Anna and her family. Initially they settled in Chortitz, East Reserve, as it is recorded that daughter Maria was born there. Sometime thereafter the Isaac Braun family moved to the West Reserve where they settled in the village of Edenburg, near Gretna. Isaac Braun remained a member of the Bergthal Gemeinde under Johan F. Funk until his death, but his wife left the Gemeinde in 1904.

It is recorded that daughter Katharina Braun joined the Sommerfelder Gemeinde because of marriage. Daughter Maria Braun married Peter Dueck son of Peter and Maria Dueck of Strassberg, West Reserve, and moved to Saskatchewan with her husband. Son Peter Braun of Winkler, married Margaretha Doerksen daughter of Katharina Driedger of Osterwick, Manitoba. Son Isaac Braun married Anna Schmidt daughter of Abraham and Anne Schmidt of Edenburg and also moved to Saskatchewan.

Section Three: Johan Harms.

The oldest son Johan Harms was born in the village of Osterwick, Chortitz Colony in 1798.¹² At the age of seven his parents moved to the village of Blumstein, Molotschna, as Vollwirt. He received a sound elementary education and later also served as the teacher in the village school. In 1822 he married his cousin Maria Giesbrecht who was probably the daughter of Jakob Giesbrecht of Blumstein as the family had a 7 year old daughter Maria in 1808.¹³ After their marriage the couple moved temporarily to Mariental where their third son Jakob Harms was born in 1826.

Shortly thereafter the family moved to Margenau where they took up a full village farm. Johan Harms(1798-1887) was an aggressive farmer keeping his sons busily occupied on his Wirtschaft so that some of them later lamented that there had not been sufficient time to further their education. In his old age Johan Harms married for the second time but the marriage was not a happy one.

Additional information about his family may be found in "Stammbuch und Eigene Literatur" a manuscript family history prepared by grandson John F. Harms.¹⁴ See also "Harms Pedigree Chart" compiled by great grandson Orlando Harms.¹⁵

3 The oldest son Johan Harms was not as ambitious as his seven brothers. He was married but died childless. They lived in Margenau in a small house without any land. He was a trustworthy cowboy riding the steppes in springtime, summer and fall, but mainly at night, keeping watch, so that strange herds of horses, cattle and sheep would not pasture thereon. During the winter he served as a day labourer with the farmers.

It was in the summer of 1865 that he fell from a load of barley sheaves fatally injuring himself. He was immediately taken to Dr. Wiebe in Lichtfelde who advised that nothing could be done to save him and that he should be taken to Kleeefeld as quickly as possible where he died at the home of his brother Jakob. The entire kinship circle came for the funeral which was held in the Scheune of brother Jakob Harms.16

3 Bernhard Harms (1824-1896) married Elizabeth Schoenke. The family remained in Russia. They had two sons Bernhard Harms (1854-1915), whose son Peter (1893-1914) died in an accident in Hillsboro, and Johan Harms (1857-1937) who fled to the Caucasus. Many in this family experienced the Revolution and its aftermath. John A. Toews (b.1912) was a grandson of Johan Harms(1857-1937).

3 Jakob Harms was married to the widow Franz Isaac, nee Anna Voth, of Marienthal. In 1854 the couple moved to the newly founded village of Kleeefeld taking up a full farm. Jakob Harms was a good farmer later renting additional government land.17 In 1878 the family, with their only son and his wife and child emigrated to America settling in Minnesota.18 Son John F. Harms was the well-known editor and publisher of the Mennonite Brethren Church whose story is told in the book Pioneer Publisher: The Life and Times of J.F. Harms by Orlando Niebert.19

3 Peter Harms married Katharina Voth of Gnadenheim in 1851 and the young couple settled in Paulsheim. He apprenticed as a tailor and pursued this calling for a number of years. Later he farmed. He was chosen to serve his community for a time as village Schulz. In 1875 the family moved to America at which time he also served as one of the leaders of the emigration group.

The Peter Harms family settled six miles south-east of Hillsboro and joined the Mennonite Brethren Church on their arrival. In 1880 Peter Harms traveled to Russia visiting his relatives and decided that the family had made the right choice by leaving when they did. 20 Son Peter Harms was the grandfather of Orlando Harms the author of the book on John F. Harms. 21

3 Abram Harms married Katharina Hiebert in 1858. The couple had seven children four of whom lived to adulthood and married. After her death he married Anna Enns and had another three children all of whom died. In Russia Abram Harms "was a Kleine Gemeinde school teacher." 22 For several years he taught in the village of Margenau, Molotschna. 23 In 1875 the family emigrated to America settling in the village of Alexanderfeld, near Snadenau. According to Ray Wiebe, Whichita, Kansas, this village was the Kleine Gemeinde stronghold in Kansas. 24

Abram Harms also continued his calling in Kansas where he started school in the winter of 1875-1876 in the home of his neighbour Abraham Klassen (1828-1906), a former Kleine Gemeinde minister. The next two years he taught school in his own home. In his study of education among the Kansas Mennonites Henry P. Peters described this home as follows:

"The house of Rev. Abr. Harms was a mud house (adobe) about 26 feet by 48 feet. On the inside as well as on the outside the walls were plastered with mud and then whitewashed nearly every year. The ceiling was very strong, made of planks two inches thick. The roof was shingled, quite steep and high. The garret furnished a large storage room, sometimes large enough to store the whole wheat crop. When this house was torn down about twelve years ago (from 1925), the walls had to be torn down in small sections by a strong team. There was enough rough lumber in the roof and floor for a frame house 26 feet by 30 feet by 18 feet." 25

Abram Harms was interested in genealogy and maintained an extensive family register. Unfortunately these records do not seem to be extant any longer. 26 In 1876 he was rebaptised by

Jakob A. Wiebe and in the same year he was elected as a deacon of the K.M.B. Church. In 1894 he was elected as a minister. 27 Son Jakob Harms belonged to the Church of God in Christ, Mennonite but died childless. 28

3 Isaac Harms married Katharina Froese in 1856 and the family evidently lived in Grosweide where their eldest son was born. The family emigrated to America where they settled in the Hillsboro area.

Their son John Harms (1856-1910) was the well known M.B. evangelist. He was quite heavy. He started teaching school at the age of 17 and in 1876-1877 taught in the Mennonite school on the French Creek north of Hillsboro and was also elected as a minister in the Johannestal Church. In 1881 he was baptised over again by Elder Abram Schellenberg and became the first minister of the Hillsboro M.B. Church. 29

Section Four: Peter Harms Family.

Many details of the Peter Harms family cannot be totally verified at this time. According to B.H.Unruh a son Peter was born to Johan Harms (b.1771) in 1906.³³ Johan K. Esau also reports that the family had a son Peter but does not give the year of birth.³⁴ Since a number of Harms families in the Kleine Gemeinde are known to be the children of a Peter Harms it is logical to assume that he was a brother to the other Harms siblings who belonged to this denomination.

It is noteworthy that when Mrs. Peter Penner, nee Margaretha Harms, died in Margenau in 1846, a Peter Harms was appointed as one of the guardians for her four children. In all likelihood he was her brother as someone close to the family would have been chosen for this position. The Estate Settlement also mentions that the guardians Franz Kroeker and Peter Harms were "both from here", presumably meaning that they were also of the village of Margenau.³⁵

According to another report Cornelius Friesen (1812-1892), school teacher, "moved to Margenau in 1847 taking over a half Wirtschaft from Peter Harms No. 16 which they bought for 1500 ruble."³⁶ These reports would indicate that the Peter Harms family resided in Margenau at least until 1847.

Little else is known about Peter Harms except that he later lived in the village of Sparrau.³⁷ This village was founded in 1838. He married twice but the name of his first wife is not known.³⁸ Two children Gertrude and Peter were born of the first marriage.

Peter Harms Sr. married for the second time to Cornelia Warkentin and four children were born of the second marriage. He died some time prior to 1872 when his widow married for the second time to Gerhard S. Kornelsen veteran Kleine Gemeinde school teacher in Lichtenau, Molotschnau.³⁹ This couple emigrated to Manitoba in 1875 settling in the hamlet of Lichtenau near Steinbach, Manitoba, taking her two youngest children with them. Son Jakob Harms was mildly mentally handicapped and never married. He died at the home of Abram K. Eidse in Rosenort, Manitoba in 1918.⁴⁰

All of the Peter Harms children except son Peter were associated in some way with the Kleine Gemeinde Mennonites and related denominations although these connections were often somewhat tenuous.

3 In 1872 Gertrude Harms married Johan von Niessen who apparently originated in the Old Colony. It is likely that the couple met through the various connections which developed via the Kleine Gemeinde settlements near the Old Colony. The family emigrated to Manitoba and evidently settled in the West Reserve. They belonged to the Bergthaler Gemeinde as son-in-law Johan P. Janzen has recorded that his wife was baptised in the Rudnerweide Bergthal Gemeinde.⁴¹ Later the family again associated with the Kleine Gemeinde moving to Rosenort where Mrs Von Niessen died in 1906. Johan Von Niessen moved to Main Centre, Saskatchewan where he died in 1915. The three daughters Gertrude, Susanna and Helena married husbands from prominent Kleine Gemeinde families.

3 The only other child of the first marriage was son Peter Harms. Nothing is known about him except that his wives' name was Gertrude.⁴² A couple of appropriate ages and names are shown as resident near Hillsboro, Kansas, in the 1880 Marion County Census and may possibly be the same family. Presumably this could be verified by tracing the descendants of the family in Kansas.

On the possibility that the above thesis is correct the ages of the Peter and Gertrude Harms family as recorded in the 1880 Census are given here to assist anyone seeking to make a more definite connection. The Peter Harms (b. 1847) family is shown as traveling to America on the S.S. Nederland in 1875 in the company of a Jakob Harms (b. 1820) his wife Catherine (b. 1818) and their son Johan Harms (b. 1844) his wife Justina (b. 1835) and their six children. The 1880 census record shows "mother Catharina age 65" to be living with the Peter Harms (b. 1847) family, which would tend to disprove the theory that he was the son of Peter Harms

(b.1806) of Sparrau.

Friesen was well established.⁴⁴ In 1874 the family emigrated to Manitoba settling in the village of Rosenort, near Morris. Abram T. Friesen was a school teacher. In 1896 the family was resident in Hochstadt near Kleeefeld where he was probably teaching. Son Gerhard H. Friesen was also resident in Hochstadt in 1896.

Several letters by Cornelia Friesen, nee Harms, to her mother Mrs Gerhard S. Kornelsen living near Steinbach, Manitoba, have been preserved.⁴⁵ Abram T. Friesen died in Rosenort in 1909. His widow moved to Swallowell, Alberta where she died in 1938. The family apparently belonged to the Church of God in Christ, Mennonite.

Section Five: The Anna Harms Family.

Anna Harms married for the first time in 1826 to Peter Dueck (1801-1842). According to one writer he was born in the Chortitz Colony.⁴⁸ In his autobiography her son Heinrich Ratzlaff states that his step-father was from Elizabethal.⁴⁹ Peter Dueck died in 1842 leaving her a widow with four children. Several years later she married Heinrich Ratzlaff.

The Dueck family evidently lived in the village of Blumstein as son Heinrich Ratzlaff states that his mother was from that village when she married for the second time. This is confirmed in a letter to the Rundschau of August 3, 1910, by her son Heinrich Ratzlaff, Jansen, Nebraska, when he mentions that his aunt Mrs Isaac Braun had lived across the street from them in Blumstein.⁵⁰

The Heinrich Ratzlaff family lost their farm buildings through a fire in 1857 after which they built large new buildings. Heinrich Ratzlaff died in 1864 because of an infection in his hand. In 1866 his widow Anna Ratzlaff sold the Wirtschaft for 5000 ruble and moved to the village of Heuboden in Borosenko. Here she did not buy her own land but lived in a little house on the yard of her son Heinrich. In 1874 Anna Ratzlaff joined the emigration to America where she died on August 25, 1874, only 25 days after having arrived in Manitoba. She was remembered as a very kind person.⁵¹

The family lived in Blumstein where they owned a windmill.⁵² Later they moved to the village of Heuboden, Borosenko. In 1874 they emigrated to Manitoba settling in the village of Rosenort.⁵³ The children all made their homes in this community. Daughter Agatha Warkentin remained single and died of TB at the age of 26 years.

3 Daughter Maria H. Dueck married widower Abraham W. Friesen the son of Abraham Friesen (1782-1849) the second Aeltester of the Kleine Gemeinde. The family moved to Jansen, Nebraska, in 1874. 3 Agatha Dueck was born in Blumstein in 1836.54 According to Heinrich Ratzlaff his half sister Agatha remained single. However since Johan L. Dueck married an Agatha Dueck born in Blumstein, home of the Peter Dueck (1801-1842) family, it is possible that she is their daughter Agatha. The John L. Dueck family lived in Alexanderkron, Molotschna. In 1889 their son John D. Dueck of Gretna, Manitoba, moved to Hillsboro, Kansas, and became the first pastor of the Alexanferfeld Church of God in Christ, Mennonite.

Section Six: Jakob Harms Family.

The age of son Jakob Harms is not known at the present time and therefore it is possible that he was younger than his brother Isaac and not older. In his "Harms Pedigree Chart" Orlando Harms has stated that Jakob Harms "had four sons Jakob and Gerhard among them. They were painters and designers of vehicles. Remained in Russia."⁵⁸ He has listed Jakob Harms Sr. as younger than Isaac Harms(1811-1891).

In a letter of June 18, 1882, to Gerhard S. Kornelsen of Steinbach, Manitoba, Abram Nickel of Gnadenfeld, Molotschna, has written that they had visited the widow Jakob Harms from Blumstein, stating as follows: "She was very glad that we visited her. She asked us to send her greetings and would be very glad to receive a few lines from you. Her oldest son Jakob Harms is also going to the Holdemans."⁵⁹ Nothing further is known about any of the other children of Jakob Harms.

3 Jakob Harms Jr. was married to Helena Klassen daughter of Johan Klassen(1811-1881) of Steinbach, Manitoba. If the information is correct that he was the son of Jakob Harms, son of Johan Harms, born 1771, then they were first cousin. See Section Eight for additional information.

Ray Wiebe, Wichita, Kansas, reports the following information about the Jakob Harms family: "They lived in Annafeld, Crimea, until 1874, when they moved to America together with the main contingent of K.M.B. families. They settled on the fifth farm from the east end of the Gnadenau village street, on the NE1/4 of Section Eleven Liberty Township. Jakob Harms was known as a good painter or artist. It appears that Jakob Harms and his wife were rebaptised by Aeltester Johan Holdman and became charter members of the Alexanderfeld Church. Later they moved to Inman, Kansas, and joined the Zion Church of God in Christ Mennonite north-west of Inman. They have descendants near McPherson, Kansas, who are not Mennonites and cannot read German."⁶⁰

In his obituary in the Botschafter der Wahrheit it is stated "that Jakob Harms was born in the village of Blumstein on April 10, 1838, where he received his education. He also joined the Mennonite Gemeinde through baptism. In 1861 he married Maria Klassen. In 1874 they left Russia and immigrated to America where they made their home in Gnadenau, Kansas. ... He was survived by one son and four daughters."⁶¹ The family had three sons and five daughters. Also listed on board are Johan Klassen age 59 and wife Marie age 60 who are possibly her parents. See Section Eight.

Thus it would appear that son Jakob Harms came to America where he joined the Church of God in Christ Mennonite. Johan K. Esau reports that five of the Jakob Harms children were still living in 1933, namely, Katharina, Aganetha, Maria, Gerhard and Anna.⁶² The ages for the Jakob Harms children recorded here is based on the Marion County Census Records. It is noteworthy that a Jakob Klassen listed as "father age 66" and Mary Klassen "wife age 67" are listed under the Jakob Harms family for 1880.

Section Seven: Isaac Harms Family.

In 1832 Isaac Harms married Anna Sawatzky daughter of Cornelius Sawatzky (1781-1840) who settled in the village of Orloff, Molotschna, in 1804.63 Isaac Harms was one of the promoters of the Kleine Gemeinde resettlement program of the 1860s and in 1864 the family moved to Markusland near Einlage, Old Colony. It is believed that the family later moved to Borosenko, probably to the village of Heuboden where several of the sons settled.

In 1874 Isaac Harms moved to Jansen, Nebraska, where he farmed a section of land with his children. In 1877, he married for the second time to the widow Klaas Friesen, nee Karolina Plett, from Manitoba. According to Henry Fast, Isaac Harms married for a third time to a young widow, Maria Fast, and moved to Manitoba.64

3 Son Cornelius Harms remained in Russia and was resident in Schoenau, Molotschna, in 1892. Later the family moved to Reedly, California, where they were resident in 1913. Some of the family belonged to the K.M.B. Church there.

3 Isaac Harms married Margaretha Friesen daughter of Abraham Friesen. She had a brother Abraham Friesen resident near Nikopol in 1892.65 Isaac Harms died in 1866 leaving her a widow with two children. She remarried to Klaas Brandt (1845-1901) and the family settled in Rosenort, Manitoba, in 1874, together with her children by her first marriage. It does not appear that her daughter Anna Harms ever had a family. Son Isaac Harms married his second cousin Anna Dueck, daughter of Peter H. Dueck of Rosenort, Manitoba.

The Johan Harms family lived in Heuboden, Borosenko, until 1874 when they moved to Manitoba. However, in 1875 the family moved to Jansen, Nebraska, where they settled in the so-called "Harms village" which later became Blumenort.

In 1877 Johan Harms was elected as a minister of the Kleine Gemeinde Church.66 Shortly after the death of his first wife in 1878 Johan Harms married for the second time to Helena Friesen. Most of the family continued to reside in Jansen, Nebraska, and later Meade, Kansas. Some family members have also moved to Dallas Oregon, and Steinbach, Manitoba. It is possible that not all of the children are listed.67 a variety of churches including the Mennonite Brethren and Church of God in Christ Mennonite.

Section Eight. Maria Harms Family.

Maria Harms married Johan Klassen in 1832. Considerable information regarding this family is found in the "Esau Family Tree 1740-1933" by grandson Johan K. Esau.⁷¹ "They never owned any land, he worked out for many years. He also was a carpenter, making chairs, wooden shovels, trays or forms, etc. He would rent land when possible, but had much bad luck. One year all their livestock perished, and a number of times there were crop failures." According to the Sterbe Liste of Johan Esau (1832-1904) the Johan Klassen family had lived in Fischau.⁷² Another source refers to son Johan Klassen as being from Sparrau.⁷³

There is some question as to where the Johan Klassens' lived in Russia prior to their emigration to America. There does not seem to be any record that they emigrated to Manitoba although under family 108 of his Gensalogy Register, Peter Toews refers to Maria Klassen, nee Harms and Maria Harms, nee Klassen, that they were both baptised members of the Gemeinde and that they came to America in 1874.

The Ship List of the SS Brocklin which carried the main contingent of the K.M.B. arriving in New York on July 15, 1874, includes the family of daughter Maria and her husband Jakob Harms. Also included on board are "Johan Klassen age 59 and wife Marie age 50" who appear to be the subject couple. A couple by the name of Jakob Klassen age 66 and wife Mary age 67 are listed with the Jakob Harms family in the 1880 Marion County Census which seems to underscore the above. Of course this would presume that an error was made in listing the name of Johan Klassen as Jakob Klassen by mistake and also that the birth year for Johan Klassen is given as 1815 instead of 1811 as reported by grandson Johan K. Klassen.

If it is correct that the Johan Klassen family emigrated to America with the K.M.B. it would appear that they had originally moved to the Crimea from where they emigrated to Gnadenu Kansas. Evidently they lived in the home of their children Jakob Harms. Johan K. Esau mentions that his grandparents spent the last 10 years of their life with his parents Heinrich Esaus'. According to the David L. Plett Sterbe Register Johan Klassen died in Steinbach where he was buried. His wife died in Meuboden several years later, presumably at the home of their children and was buried in Steinbach near her husband.

3 In 1854 Daughter Anna Klassen married Heinrich Esau born in Sparrau. The family was financially unable to buy land and so Heinrich Esau worked as a tradesman. In the early 1860s the Kleine Gemeinde assisted its landless people to purchase land in Borosenko and the Heinrich Esau family availed themselves of this opportunity moving to the village of Nicolaithal. Several years later in 1869 they moved again to the village of Annafeld in the Crimea and joined the Kleine Gemeinde congregation there.

In 1874 the Heinrich Esau family left Annafeld, Crimea, together with her parents and sister Maria and her family. In Hamburg the group separated with the Harms and Klassen family evidently going to the United States with the K.M.B. and the Esau family going to Canada.

In Manitoba the Heinrich Esau family settled in the village of Heuboden just north of Kleefeld together with the Abram Kornelsen family who had also lived in the Crimea. An account of the privations and hardships that the family encountered during the pioneer years in Manitoba is found in the memoirs of son Johan K. Esau.⁷⁴ In 1890 the family moved to Oregon for the sake of a milder climate where Heinrich Esau died in 1890. His widow moved back to Hochfeld, Manitoba where she died in 1902.

3 Son Johan Klassen married Maria Friesen the daughter of Jakob Friesen (1820-1888). The family lived in Heuboden, Borosenko. During the emigration to Manitoba in 1874 they had the misfortune to be detained in Liverpool as one of their children had scarlet fever. Cousin Heinrich Ratzlaff describes the scene as follows: "Oh, the pain. Cousin Klassen begged the doctor, he should allow them to proceed with the group. "No", shouted the doctor, and ordered them to return to the smaller boat. With tears they had to depart from us."⁷⁷ Two of the Klassen children died in Liverpool.

The Johan Klassen's arrived in Manitoba late that fall when it was too late to build a house and so they moved in with the Heinrich Esau family in Heuboden and the two families had to share a one room house.⁷⁸ They are not listed among the original 18 settlers in Steinbach but they did own property in the village. The 1896 Assessment Records for the R.M. of Hanover show a Johan Klassen age 57 who owned part of the NW1/4 Section 26-6-6E and had 4 horses and 6 cows.

In 1895 Johan Klassen went on a trip visiting relatives in various Mennonite settlements in the United States reporting in the January 8, 1896, issue of the Rundschau that "he had visited cousin Jakob Harms, Mountain Lake, uncles Jakob and Isaac Klassen, Hillsboro, cousin Peter Harms, Jansen, and cousin Johan Friesen."⁷⁹

It is reported that in 1900 Cornelius P. Kroeker, a large scale Steinbach farmer, bought the property of "the old Johan Klassen who owned the other land to the south."⁸⁰ In 1885 their daughter Margaretha married Klaas R. Reimer (1837-1906) pioneer merchant in Steinbach. In his memoirs Klaas R. Reimer refers to her as being from Scratching River.⁸¹ After his death she moved to Herbert, Saskatchewan with her children. No further information as to the Johan Klassen family or their children is presently available.

Section Nine: Margaretha Harms Family.

2 In 1837 Margaretha Harms married Peter Penner (1816-1884) the son of Peter Penner of Orloff, Molotschna.⁸² The family purchased a Wirtschaft in Margenau where they made their home and where Mrs Penner died in 1846.

According to the Theilungs-Verschreibung settlement made after her death the Wirtschaft was worth 1050 ruble and the livestock, household contents and furnishings another 701 ruble. The guardians appointed for the children were Franz Kroecker and Peter Harms both stated to be from the same village (also from here).⁸³ In all likelihood the Peter Harms listed as guardian would have been her brother.

Her husband was an aggressive farmer who was able to pay for his Wirtschaft in full by 1856 when his second wife died. Peter Penner married a total of five times. In 1874 he emigrated to Manitoba, settling in the village of Blumenort.⁸⁴

The next year they moved to Manitoba, settling in Blumenort. In 1891 the family moved to the new settlement of Greenland just to the north. Peter H. Penner married for the second time to the widow of Jakob Friesen, nee Elizabeth Rempel.

Son Peter P. Penner moved from Greenland to Ridgewood, Manitoba, sometime after 1910. Daughters Helen and Katherine married brothers Klaas I. Friesen and John I. Friesen both of Steinbach.

3 Daughter Katharina H. Penner married Peter Siemens in 1860. Her husband died in 1864 after which she married Isaac L. Warkentin the son of Johan Warkentin (1817-1886) of Blumstein. At the time of the emigration Katherina and her husband lived in the Chutor Hochfeld owned by her father-in-law. The family settled in Blumenhof, Manitoba, in 1875. Her husband was the well known Dr. Warkentin who served all nationalities in the surrounding communities. In 1905 the family moved to Texas where she died. As they had no children of their own the family raised several foster children and also adopted most of the Aron Penner children.

The family originally settled in Rosenort, Manitoba, moving to Blumenhof near Steinbach a year or so later. Johan Janzen was a successful farmer and steam engine owner who operated on a large scale. Son Johan Janzen married his second cousin Gertruda von Niessen. Most of the family resided in the Blumenort and Giroux area.

Section Ten: Conclusion.

In conclusion the reader is asked to note that a number of genealogical connections referred to in this family sketch are still speculative and several sections are incomplete. Sources have been carefully noted in order to make this paper as thorough and reliable as possible. Nevertheless this is only a preliminary draft and should be regarded accordingly.

The present plans are to published this history of the Harms family as part of Volume Five of the Mennonite Kleine Gemeinde Historical Series. Hopefully further additions and corrections can be made prior to publication. Anyone with additional information on this family or who can correct vital dates or other details, is asked to contact the author Delbert F. Plett at Box 1960, Steinbach, Manitoba, R0A 2A0, or phone 1(204)326-6454 Business or 1(204)326-9022 Residence.

12. John F. Harms, op.cit. 1, gives the birth year of his grandfather as 1800. He then goes on to state that his grandfather received four years of good schooling "according to the Prussian standards" in Osterwick. This does not seem quite correct as Unruh reports that the Harms family settled in the Molotschna in 1804. Unruh also reports a birth year of 1798 which is accepted as correct for the purposes of this study. Perhaps John F. Harms confused oral tradition as the age of Johan Harms Junior would indicate that he received at the most one year of schooling in the Old Colony. It appears that Blumstein must have been fortunate to have had a very good teacher during its pioneer years.

- 34. Ibid., 198. Esau lists both Peter and Jakob after Isaac and Johan. This is not necessarily a listing by age. However it is possible that the Peter Harms born 1806 died and that another son Peter was born after the birth of Isaac in 1811. This would actually fit better with the ages of Peter's children. No clues are available as to the age of Jakob Harms but the age of his one known son would also fit better with a later birth date.
