1819 - 1969

Son of Andrew G. Unruh and Anna nee Koehn was born May 28, 1819 in the village of Karlswalde, near Ostrog, in the province Wohlynia, Polish-Russia.

He was chosen to the ministry Sep. 27, 1853, and ordained as Elder Dec. 15 of the same year.

When rumors reached the villages in 1871 that the Mennonites were to be placed in the military ranks of Russia, Unruh together with the elders of the neighboring villages, was sent on a delegation to St. Petersburg regarding these affairs. Nothing was achieved in interviews with government authorities.

In 1873 he was again delegated to accompany the twelve deputies from the different churches in Russia, Prussia and Poland, to locate favorable territory for settlement in America.

Upon his return home he toiled and labored under many trials and difficulties with greatest patience and perseverance, remaining in Russia until the last large group had completed arrangements to migrate and until those of the church who so desired, both with means and without means, were brought to America.

They landed in Philadelphia January 28, 1875, after spending 67 days on board the ship, where smallpox had broken out among the passengers.
